Guidelines Overview

These guidelines set out credit parameters that Macquarie considers when originating an application. These parameters are not exhaustive, and Macquarie reserves the right to add additional parameters, or to vary the parameters set out in this document, at any time and as it sees fit.

Approval will be at the sole discretion of Macquarie.

Credit approvals are valid for 90 days only from initial application submission. Where a client wishes to proceed with a lapsed approval, the reassessment process is to be completed which includes the following steps:

- Use the Circumstance Change Declaration to have the applicant confirm in writing whether their circumstances have changed since their original application was provided.
- Any change in circumstances to be assessed and appropriate enquiries and verification made, which may include requesting an updated loan application and supporting documents.
- A reassessment is to be performed to determine whether the loan/lease remains not unsuitable and appropriate case notes made on file. Where materially adverse changes to the applicant's circumstance are identified, including, but not limited to a reduction in income or an increase in expenses, a full reassessment must be completed.

When a reassessment is completed, settlement must occur within 180 days from initial application submission.

For any scenarios that do not meet these guidelines or if you have any questions, please contact your BDM for assistance.

These guidelines will be reviewed and updated from time to time in line with Macquarie's risk appetite, market practice, and/or changes in regulation/legislation.

The credit assessment notes must contain a clearly documented rationale for approval including the assessment of the applicant's ability to repay. Under all scenarios, only income which can be verified will be accounted for when establishing serviceability. The applicant (Commercial) must also make financial declarations that they have sufficient ongoing monthly cashflow to meet their repayments (including questions around receipt of Job Keeper and Payment Pause) and there are no foreseeable changes to their financial situation.
Servicing Assessment for Self-Employed Individuals	As per 3.1 Servicing Surplus, the capacity must be positive and above the minimum servicing surplus.
Servicing Assessment for Companies, Trusts, Partnerships and Commercial Sole Traders	The Cash Operating Surplus must have positive capacity. In conducting the servicing test, banking lines of credit based on variable interest rate are assessed using a minimum interest rate floor [7.5%] and buffer of [0.50%] above the actual rate. Where the applicant entity cannot service in their own right, the distributed income to the directors can be used in servicing. Where director's individual income is used in servicing then see 3.13 Self Employed Verification Documents below. This includes assessment of servicing, income verification, commitments, buffers (e.g. rental income), floors, HEM etc.

3.13 Self Employed Verification Documents (Self Employed or Business Income)

	Credit & Responsible Lending Requirement

Where >120% of the prior period's "surplus" is required to service, the following must be obtained:
	 Last two years Financial Statements (Management* / Accountant prepared finalised Profit and Loss and Balance Sheet). OR Tax returns finalised (and NOAs for sole traders)

	Credit & Responsible Lending Requirement

	 Most recent BAS Statement/'s (minimum 6 months) within the current financial year no more than 90 days old from period end date
	Where the interim financials are consistent/in line with the most recent full year's financials, then the lower of the "surplus" of the interims or the most recent full year's financials can be used.
	Downward trend
	Where the most recent years "surplus" is lower than the previous full years "surplus", then the lower "surplus" (i.e. the most recent years surplus) must be used. In addition, to ensure income continuity, the credit analyst must provide appropriate mitigants justifying the income used in the assessment.
Add Backs	 Allowable add backs Business depreciation Interest expense Directors'/Partners' salaries – where used, directors' ongoing commitments and living expenses are to be included in the assessment (see below Additional self-employment verification requirements). Non-recurring expenses or one-off items subject to satisfactory confirmation from applicant's accountant.
	 Note: Other add-backs of non-cash expenditure should only enhance serviceability and should not be relied upon to meet commitments. Non-recurring income should be deducted from assessable income (e.g. income generated from asset sales).
Additional self- employment verification requirements	 Financial documents must be for the applicant (E.g. for a company application then company tax returns or company transaction statements. Where personal income then personal tax return) Where a company director has >20% shareholding then If the income from the company is required for servicing, both the individual tax return and company financial statements or company tax returns are required. If the income from the company is not required for servicing, then a written or verbal confirmation from the accountant that the entity is profitable or is not currently trading is required.
	Where an applicant is a director, the analyst is permitted to use company profits to supplement their PAYG wages, subject to an assessment of company financials.
	If an applicant holds a minority shareholding (less than 50%) and any of the other shareholders are not in a spousal relationship with the applicant, any company profits used in the servicing calculation must be supported by actual dividends received by the applicant. This is to be verified by a dividend statement from the entity or a tax return.

	Credit & Responsible Lending Requirement

Where director's individual income is used in servicing then see section 4.1 above. This includes assessment of servicing, income verification, commitments, buffers, floors, HEM etc.
'Income Producing Asset'	 When the 'income producing' asset is required as part of servicing as per exception in section 4.11, A forecast or work contract will be required to support the serviceability assessment and the following should be taken into account: The length of trading of the applicant; The debt position of the company; The type of work contract and proportion of revenue that this asset would generate relative to existing business; How easily quantifiable from both a revenue and margin standpoint the work contract is. Where Macquarie is relying on the projected additional income to justify servicing, one of the following additional sources of information should be obtained in this order of preference: The asset being financed accompanied by a formal signed contract with a reputable business outlining rates, minimum work guaranteed, duration of the contract and guaranteed income. This contract can be fixed term or ongoing.
Group Entities	 Where a business is comprised of a group of entities, notes must be provided outlining the group structure, including identifying the entities generating the cash flow. Financials for all active (non-dormant) entities should generally be required for assessment and servicing should generally be conducted on a group consolidated basis. This assessment varies depending on the strength of credit and size of Amount Financed. Financials should be collected for other entities in the group in the following scenarios: Where it is identified that relevant debt may exist in related entities Where there are intercompany loans Where our applicant is heavily reliant on another entity in the group (for example where our applicant is the asset holding entity and a separate entity is the income producing entity)
Professional Specialisation Self- employed – Income evidence	 Where the applicant is a self-employed professional specialist, evidence of income can be assessed based on the most recent year's financials in isolation. Where a single year's financials are relied upon, the application must not have a risk grade of D or E. At the time of application, the financials must not be more than 6 months old, else YTD BAS or management accounts are to be obtained to support the financials. Should the single year's financials be for a period less than 12 months only the financial figures contained therein should be used in the servicing assessment, annualising one year's figures in isolation is not considered acceptable. If these requirements hold true, however the applicant provides two years financials, variances between the periods must be reviewed and a suitable explanation provided, with case notes documenting any enquiries. Where a suitable explanation cannot be provided, standard requirements regarding acceptable income is to be followed. Allowable professional specialisations (evidence must be provided): Accountant – ICAA, CPA or CFA qualified Actuary – FIAA qualified
